

Integration Over Segmentation

Occasionally in business, a situation arises that provides the backdrop for heroic professional accomplishment. Some moguls of the marketplace trace their rise to a cataclysmic moment that allowed them to surface and accelerate past a pack of their peers.

It was at just such a time that Daniel made his mark in the Babylonian government. In an environment fraught with high risk, he put his faith on the line and his God to the test. Rather than depending on his own capacity, he linked arms with God and performed with distinction.

Watch closely as we see a man who pursues excellence and achieves success without setting his faith aside!
