

Session #6 – 12/8/05

▶ INTRODUCTION ◀

The subject of the day on the talk-radio program was, “What would you do if you knew you could get away with it?” The lines were jammed with callers, offering their ideas.

This was an exercise in shady fantasy for the radio audience, a simple “what if” scenario that would never occur. But, what if you were in control, and had the guarantee of immunity? Is there a bowl of revenge somewhere that would appeal to your appetite?

Joseph was in control; he could get away with revenge. His change came . . . what would he do? You’ll be impressed with his survival skills.
